The Department of Economics at Colorado State University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track, entry-level Assistant Professor position in Applied Microeconomics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach microeconomics at the graduate level. The Department is particularly interested in applicants who specialize in public economics, or in environmental economics with a public economics focus. The ability to provide support in the graduate econometrics sequence is desirable. Ph.D. must be completed by the time the appointment begins on 16 August 2013. An interest in obtaining external funding is encouraged. Tenure requires both scholarly accomplishment and excellence in teaching.

To assure full consideration, application materials must be received by Friday, 30 November 2012; however, applications may be accepted until the position is filled. This is an open search: once the search committee has identified semi-finalists, departmental faculty will have access to those files. References may be contacted at the finalist stage.

CONTACT: Please submit a cover letter describing your interest in the position, CV, statements of research and teaching interests, your job-market paper with an abstract attached, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Electronic submissions are preferred and can be sent to: microeconsearch@colostate.edu. Alternatively mail to: Chair, Micro Search Committee, Economics CSU, 1771 Campus Delivery, Fort Collins, CO 80523-1771. Colorado State is an EO/EAA employer. Colorado State University conducts background checks on all final candidates.
