Postdoctoral position at Duke Economics

The Department of Economics at Duke University is inviting applications for a postdoctoral position in economics. Applicants are expected to have completed their PhD within the last two years, and all fields of economics will be considered. The position will last 1 to 2 years. The postdoctoral fellow is expected to engage in unique research of high quality, to teach course(s) if asked, and to participate in the academic and intellectual life of the department.

Interested candidates should send a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and at least three letters of reference. Applications can be submitted to our job posting at Academic Jobs Online: www.academicjobsonline.org. No paper applications will be accepted unless specifically solicited. Applications will be evaluated on a rolling basis, and preference will be given to applicants from underrepresented populations.

Duke University is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. We value diversity in all of its many facets and meanings.