Faculty Positions
Open Rank

Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics
College of Agriculture and Natural Resources
University of Maryland at College Park

The Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics seeks multiple faculty appointees who will develop distinguished research and teaching programs in one or more of the following areas: agricultural economics and policy; environmental and resource economics; energy economics; international trade and development; applied econometrics; or experimental and behavioral economics in relation to the above fields. The appointees are expected to develop creative and productive research programs that serve the public interest at the state, national or international level. The appointees are also expected to teach courses in the instructional programs of the Department at the undergraduate and graduate levels and enhance the quality of education in these programs. The positions are nine month tenured or tenure-track positions, with rank and salary commensurate with the candidate’s record. The Department has a preference for candidates at the assistant or associate professor level with a proven record of research and publication; however, the rank of professor will be considered for exceptional candidates. Candidates should possess a doctorate in agricultural economics, economics, or an equivalent field.

All candidates must apply online to both 1) https://jobs.umd.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=52616 and 2) https://econjobmarket.org/. At https://jobs.umd.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=52616, applicants should upload their CV (in PDF format), which should include a list of three references. Additional materials should be submitted through https://econjobmarket.org/ including publications and/or research papers, a statement of research and teaching interests, and three letters of recommendation. Applications must be received by November 14, 2011, to be guaranteed full consideration but will be accepted until the position is filled. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.
