POSITION:
We are seeking to fill a nine-month non-tenure track position with teaching responsibilities in the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics. Area of specialization within agricultural and resource economics is open. Salary is competitive with other land-grant institutions. Start date is August 23, 2015.

DUTIES:
• Teach up to seven course sections per year
• Advise undergraduate students and/or supervise internships
• Serve in teaching-related committees and assist in recruiting students

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:
• A Ph.D. in Agricultural Economics or Economics or related field
• Excellent oral and written communication skills
• Commitment and desire to teach and mentor students

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:
• College-level teaching experience
• Demonstrated ability to teach via teaching evaluations and letters of support
• Ability to teach a wide range of undergraduate courses within the Department.

Successful candidates will also be expected to broaden participation among members of under-represented groups; demonstrate through their teaching programs, and/or richness of diversity in the learning experience; integrate multicultural experiences into instructional methods.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT: The Department offers B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees. All academic programs focus on three areas: (1) agribusiness and food marketing; (2) environmental and resource economics; and (3) development economics. We are located on the main campus of the University, within driving distance of Hartford, Boston and New York. For additional information, visit us at http://www.are.uconn.edu.

APPLICATIONS:
To apply, please submit the following materials through Husky Hire at http://www.jobs.uconn.edu/faculty (College of Agriculture, Health and Natural Resources, search #2015146): (1) a cover letter; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) teaching statement (including teaching philosophy, teaching experience, and commitment to effective learning); and (4) graduate transcripts. Three letters of reference should be sent to AREsearch@uconn.edu, Search #2015146. Evaluation of applicants will begin November 30, 2014 and continue until the position is filled. For more information regarding the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics please visit the department website at http://www.are.uconn.edu. If available, upload copies of teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Employment of the successful candidate will be contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check. We will be conducting pre-campus interviews at the ASSA meetings in January. For questions, call 860-486-2836 or send email to Karen.nye@uconn.edu.

At the University of Connecticut, our commitment to excellence is complemented by our commitment to building a culturally diverse community. We actively encourage women, people with disabilities, and members of minority groups to apply. The University of Connecticut is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.