The School of Public and Environmental Affairs at Indiana University-Bloomington is seeking outstanding applicants for eight tenure-track faculty positions. The positions are in the following areas: (1) Economic policy; (2) Social policy/policy analysis; (3) Public management; (4) Environmental policy; (5) Nonprofit management; (6) Healthcare policy and management; (7) Public budgeting and finance; and (8) Management and strategy. The position descriptions are attached. Given your role in public affairs/policy/administration doctoral education, we seek your assistance in circulating these positions to prospective candidates.

IUB SPEA-Bloomington is a world leader in public affairs and is the largest school of public administration and public policy in the United States. In the 2012 "Best Graduate Schools" by U.S. News & World Report, SPEA-Bloomington ranks second and is the nation's highest-ranked professional graduate program in public affairs at a public institution. Four of its specialty programs are ranked in the top-three listings, including public management, public finance, nonprofit management, and environmental policy. SPEA's doctoral programs in public affairs and public policy are ranked by the National Academy of Science as the best in the country. Indiana University-Bloomington is a research-intensive campus and is a member of the Association of American Universities.

Thank you for considering our request. We look forward to receiving applications from your current and recent graduates.